The nation is preparing for its most violent holidays as the holiday season gets underway, and across the country, residents are preparing for what is sure to be a rough year. "For last year, we lost 10,000 lives and this year we could lose another 10,000," Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan said. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, around 42 percent of all violent crime involved guns. The majority of gun deaths occur at the hands of friends and family members. Studies have shown that one major reason for these shootings is that people forget to lock up their guns after a night on the town. This year, more than 120 children have been injured or killed in accidental shootings, according to a recent report from the Institute for Injury Control and Economic Policy. The report found that most accidental shootings involve a child under six years old. According to the report, a child's head is most likely to be injured in an accidental shooting. Over 80 percent of people who unintentionally shoot themselves in the head die from the injury. Christopher Brennan, the father of a young girl killed in an accidental shooting last year, said he hopes that this will not be the case with his daughter. "We hope this doesn't happen to other families," he said. The Brennan's will be waiting this year to see if they can bring their daughter's spirit home as her name and likeness will be officially inducted into the National Roadrunners Hall of Fame. The event takes place in Indianapolis. "It's about her. It's not about anything else," Brennan said. "To have my daughter's

The Best Bets: Gossip's Masses It could be hard to believe that public relations, celebrity-watching and celebrity biographies don't have equal footing in the world of journalism, given that all three are of equal importance to the larger conversation. But they don't exist in equal portions of a newsroom — and that's the problem. The idea, as I understand it, is to give the public a "best" roundup of the important stories of the day. But, when you consider how diverse the types of media are, or even the day's events, it's hard to choose a "best". Here are some current events worth examining, but don't worry — I'll watch my step when I choose one. If a post is greyed out, it means that the story hasn't been posted yet. Indeed, Judge Newcomer told counsel that he was fully competent to decide the issue of equitable estoppel and that he was not inclined to "second-guess" him in the matter of granting or denying the motion. The court's statements during the course of argument on this issue plainly demonstrate that it considered the matter of equitable estoppel properly before it. 19 At any rate, defendant has been faced with constant judicial refusals to accept the government's practices and enforcement policy in civil tax cases. The Supreme Court's opinions of last term in two cases decided on April 15, 1971, (United States v. Heisk, 1971, 343 U.S. 700, 72 S.Ct. 958, 96 L.Ed. 1270, and Kelly v. United States, 1971, 343 U.S. 912, 72 S.Ct. 646, 96 L.Ed. 1328), on the one hand, and United States v. St. Clair, N.D.Ala.1971, 326 F.Supp. 519, on the other hand, placed the government in the untenable position of vigorously defending a policy which had been utterly defeated in the courts. Where, as here, the pleadings and proof raise the issue of equitable estoppel, we believe that the defendant had its day in court. See Haag v. Commissioner, 9 Cir. 1969, 417 F.2d 1, 4; Nisbet v.
